Turning it around Eagle Park group fights back

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Just less than a year ago, Madison County experienced the worst mass murder in its history when five men were slain in Eagle Park Acres — apparently the result of drug activity.

While the murders were horrible and shocked the community, the location was not surprising to many. Eagle Park has long had the reputation of a "dirty little neighborhood" where crime runs rampant and police and fire protection are non-existent; where many of the famous "fire fires" that burn all weekend long and blacken the St. Louis horizon take place.

But today, a group of residents of the tiny unincorporated neighborhood just south of the city of Madison is doing everything in its power to turn things around in Eagle Park.

"They used to be lining up on Harrison Street selling dope. We didn't used to have fire protection. Weeds used to be as tall as a man and nobody did anything about it," said Greg Gardner, president of the Concerned Citizens of Eagle Park Acres.

The group was formed in February of this year in an attempt to identify residents' concerns and organize an effort to fight high weeds, lack of sewers and lack of police and fire protection. Rose Foster, treasurer of the Concerned Citizens, said the group has sparse resources to work with.

"We have about 40 members and very little money. We have had one successful fund-raiser," she said.

Nonetheless, the group has accomplished much in its few months of existence.

"There is a lot better living conditions out here now. People are cleaning up their properties," said Venice Township Supervisor Andy Economy.

Economy has played a big part in the effort. In addition to sending township workers out to cut weeds, Economy has managed to obtain a fire truck for Eagle Park, where there was no fire protection at all as recently as a year ago.

Actually, the neighborhood did have a fire truck. But the vehicle sat in the garage of the fire department's only member and he only brought it out when he wanted. Economy, with the help of the state's attorney's office, has forced the fire chief to give up the truck. It will soon be given to the city of Madison, which will provide fire protection.

"It took a year and a half, but I did it," Economy said.

what he can to improve the circumstances of Eagle Park residents. He and Lt. Dennis Fischer have organized a Neighborhood Watch group in an effort to prevent and deter crime. Churchich is also working with the

Democrats bash GOP and media

By Bob Slate

Madison County Democrats should ignore the polls and take their message to the people in the next week.

That was the message at the Madison County Democratic Party's Annual John F. Kennedy Champagne Dinner Dance at the Gateway Convention Center in Collinsville Thursday night.

"The Republicans who own the newspapers would like nothing better than for us to sit back and give up because the polls don't look good," said Penny Severns, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor.

Severns and other Democratic hopefuls for statewide office — Al Hefel (attorney general), Nancy Drew-Sheehan (treasurer), and Pat Quinn (secretary of state) — joined with Congressmen Jerry Costello and Dick Durbin and the entire slate of Democratic candidates for county offices at the fund-raiser.

The event quickly turned into

Residents give EPA an earful

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency plan to remove soil contaminated with lead from about 1,600 residential properties in Granite City, Madison and Venice drew sharp reactions from residents last week. EPA officials conducted a public hearing Thursday on its proposed $35 million Superfund cleanup of the Granite City Industries Taracorp site in Granite City.

While some residents — like Paul Wilson — want contaminated soil removed from their yards immediately, others — like Michael Anderson — want the EPA to address a 230,000-ton lead pile and lead paint in homes before attacking residential soils. Still others — like Craig Tarpoiff — had questions about how the EPA came up with its proposed remedy.

"I want my yard cleaned up. I don't even want to talk about Granite City not letting my government, the EPA, come into my yard and get the lead out of it. If one child gets sick, that's enough for the yards to be cleaned. I wanted my yard cleaned up back in 1980 when SIU first started coming up here. Granite City better wake up and start minding the business of the people who voted for them. I'm tired of seeing Granite City poison its children," commented Wilson, a resident of the 1700 block of Edison.

The EPA has proposed a $35 million Superfund cleanup of lead contamination caused by years of smelting at property near 15th and State streets, now owned by Taracorp Industries.

The agency has proposed removing all residential soil with a lead concentration of 600 parts per million or more from a 55-block area of Granite City, Madison and Venice. It has not yet determined what it will do with an area of approximately 30 acres that formerly contained the lead smelting operation, a slag pile recycling operation, a trucking company and a fuel oil distributor. A 230,000-ton lead scrap pile remains on the site and groundwater contamination has been detected under the pile.

EPA has already removed shredded battery case material that had been used as

Robert Sims sues authors of book

Robert Sims is suing the authors of a book he claims ruined his name and reputation. Sims, whose ex-wife Paula was convicted of murdering the couple's two daughters, filed the libel suit Sept. 28 in Cook County Circuit Court. He claims Don Weber, a Collinsville attorney, and his co-author, Charles Bosworth Jr., defamed his name in their book and screenplay Pre-Cious Victims. Sims, who divorced his wife shortly after she was convicted in January 1990 of murdering their six-week-old daughter, Heather, could not be reached for comment. The suit, filed by Thomas Daley of Chicago, is seeking more than $400,000 in damages against the two authors, publishing company Penguin Books USA Inc., CBS Inc. and Laurel Film Inc. Weber, a former Madison County assistant state's attorney, prosecuted Sims in 1990. He then co-authored the book, which was published in 1991. Bosworth, a reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, could not be reached for comment.

Tuesday; Weber declined to comment. Daley declined to comment when contacted at his Chicago office.

The suit alleges the book and television movie falsely implicated Robert Sims in the murders of Heather and his 13-day-old daughter, Lorelei. Paula Sims testified during her 1990 trial that a masked intruder kidnapped her children in separate incidents while she was home alone and Robert Sims was at work.

Lorelei was reported missing by Paula Sims from her Brighton home in 1986. The baby's body was found later in a wooded area behind the home.

Sims reported a similar incident involving Heather at her Alton home in 1989. Heather's body was found five days later in a trash dump in West Alton, Mo.

The couple has a son, Randy Sims, who lives with Robert Sims in the Edwardsville area. Paula Sims, who has lost several appeals, is serving a life prison sentence at Dwight Correctional Center for Heather's death.

Time to change batteries

The good news: The number of people who died as a result of house fires began declining steadily after 1977. The bad news: The decline has stopped and may be in the process of reversing. Ironically, the explanation for both statements is the same: smoke detectors.

Brand-new, clean, functional smoke detectors in the first instance. Old, dirty, nonfunctional smoke detectors in the second. The chances of dying in a home fire are cut in half when there is a working smoke detector. Approximately 80 percent of fire deaths occur in homes where there is none.

Experts estimate half of all the smoke detectors in this country are not working because of old or missing batteries. People just don't remember to change them. This is why the public service campaign: "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery," begins shortly before the end of daylight-savings time each fall. Hundreds of local fire departments and burn centers join in getting the message out: "When you change your clocks Oct. 30, remember to change the batteries in your smoke detectors, too."

"I'd also like to remind people to check their fire extinguishers to make sure they still work," said Steve Missey, director of safety at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, in Granite City.

Shimkus made risky investments: Henkhaus

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Opponents in one of the most hotly-contested Madison County races clashed again Thursday.

Mick Henkhaus, the Democratic candidate for county treasurer, accused the GOP incumbent, John Shimkus, of making risky investments with county money.

In a press conference held at the Edwardsville Township Democratic Headquarters, Henkhaus alleged that Shimkus has invested more than $21 million in long-term derivatives.

Shimkus, reacted for comment later, said Henkhaus' accusation was untrue, and that derivatives are illegal.

Henkhaus alleged that Shimkus invested county money at 9 percent interest on a security scheduled to mature in 2005. "Who knows what the interest rate will be by 2005?" Henkhaus said. "There is no guarantee that these investments will ever make a profit, but if something like the Flood of 1993 were to happen again and the county needed money, it could cost several hundred thousand dollars in penalties."

If the interest rate were to climb to 15 percent by 2005, Henkhaus said, the county could lose more than $3 million on its investment.

Henkhaus defined a derivative investment as an investment hedged against the future of a commodity. Investors loan money for the purchase of that commodity at a specified interest rate, but risk that interest rates will rise beyond the rate they invested at by the time the security matures.

Henkhaus suggested the county invest its money in certificates of deposit issued by local banks for terms of 180 days or one year instead of tying the money up in long-term investments.

Shimkus said the county does not invest in derivatives, and that his ledger is always open for the public to inspect.

"This (allegation) just isn't true," Shimkus said. "For one thing, derivatives are illegal. I submit a report of the County's investments every month to the County Board and there is no way it would stand for investing in illegal (securities)."

County funds are invested in three categories, Shimkus said:

short term, intermediate and long-term. The majority of the long-term investments are in government bonds, he said.

"(Henkhaus) claimed that (the county) stands to lose all this money's interest and penalties, but that couldn't happen if we tried," Shimkus said. "There is no factual basis to the allegation that we invest in derivatives. It's a lie."

Shimkus said there is no penalty to be lost if the county chose to sell the bonds before they matured in 2005, and money would be more readily available in case of emergency that under Henkhaus' plan.

"I could write a check for $13 million right now (on the government bonds)," Shimkus said. "Plus, the county has about $10 in reserve funds that could be used. On the contrary, if the county invested all its money in CDs, we all know you pay a penalty if you take the money out early."

"Saying he'd invest all of the county's money in CDs is really a no-brainer," Shimkus said. "It requires no work, no effort, and produces about half of the (profit from) interest."

APA issues plea

Pet dumping a problem

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

Some area animal owners won't take "no" for an answer.

John Vasques, a volunteer for the Animal Protection Agency (APA) from Pontoon Beach, said the APA is housing 20 or 30 dogs, some still unclaimed from the Flood of '93, and 35 cats. The agency has reached its housing limit.

So when people call and ask the APA if it has room for more, it says no. That is just not enough for some people.

This week a local woman called and asked the APA if it could take four kittens. The APA said it couldn't.

The next day, four dead kittens were found dumped at the agency, with their throats cut. Betty Allen of the APA said it looked as if the kittens were killed by another cat.

About three weeks ago, a newborn German shepherd puppy was dumped at the agency. The puppy was only about a day old and did not yet have its eyes open.

The good news is that not only did the puppy survive, but it was also adopted. Vasques and his wife, Mary, bottle-fed the puppy until it was able to eat on its own, and a Pontoon Beach woman has agreed to adopt it.

Allen said two chickens, two turkeys and three peacocks have also been dumped on APA grounds. Because all of the birds are wild, there is nothing that can be done with them.

"We just wish people would stop dumping the animals off there. Money is tight, and the animals are there until they die, or until they're adopted," Vasques said.

Another dog, which was recently adopted, won't very long until it got to the APA. Vasques said this particular bird dog was brought to the APA with burns all over its head.

"The people were torturing it. They were putting cigarettes out on its head," he said.

"It's so frustrating seeing the way the people treat animals. It's sickening. We're cruel enough to each other," Vasques said.

To make matters worse, the APA, which operates totally from donations, ran into another problem this week.

A state law is now requiring that dogs at the agency be housed on concrete. So, the APA is going to have to fund the concrete project, which is estimated to cost about $6,000.

A separate account has been established for the project. Donations may be sent to the APA building fund, Granite City Steel and Community Credit Union, 3970 Maryville Road, Granite City, Ill., 62040.

For more information, call Allen at 452-2780.

Shimkus enlisting Lutherans

Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus is ignoring the old taboo of not discussing politics and religion in public.

Shimkus, a Republican, is bringing his Lutheran brethren into his race against Democratic challenger Mick Henkhaus.

"It's just a good connection to have with Lutherans around the county," said Shimkus, a Lutheran from Collinsville who used to teach at Metro East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville.

Henkhaus said he is shying away from discussing politics to the religious vote because mixing politics and religion makes him uncomfortable.

Lutherans for Shimkus, a group organized by the Madison County Republican organization, is circulating letters to between 5,000 and 6,000 Lutherans in the county, encouraging them to vote for Shimkus in the Nov. 8 election.

"There are no sermons being given as part of this campaign. It's just letters reminding people that John is running," Madison County GOP Chairwoman Eleanor Schulte, a Lutheran, said.

"In the Bible, we do have politics that work with religion, but there is no problem for us with mixing them together," she said.

Henkhaus said the strategy appears to cross the line of separation of church and state. "I think there's a certain place in religion and politics where you stop. That's not the kind of thing I would want to get my campaign tangled up in."

The committee borrowed membership directories from Lutheran churches throughout the county to get addresses of Lutheran voters, Shimkus said. "We did something similar back in 1990, but I think it's more organized and more inclusive this time around. Instead of just a few churches scattered here and there," he said, referring to his 1990 campaign for treasurer in which he ousted Henkhaus.

Lutherans for Shimkus has not been registered as a political committee with the Madison County Clerk's Office or the Illinois Board of Elections.

Candidate forum draws small crowd

By Doris Hanrahan
Staff writer

A forum designed to introduce Madison County candidates to the voters attracted only a handful of people Tuesday night.

Only about 25 persons attended the meeting, held by the Collinsville League of Women Voters at the Collinsville Memorial Library.

In a town meeting format, seven candidates took the opportunity of a two-minute introductory segment to summarize their backgrounds and qualifications. They then took pre-screened questions from the audience.

Contenders for four offices participated: Debbie Saltich, Democratic incumbent and Bob Ramsey, Republican challenger, county clerk; John Shimkus, Republican incumbent, treasurer; Bob Churchich, Democratic incumbent and Jack Vahle, Republican contender, sheriff; Nick Hamilos, Democratic incumbent county board member in District 26, and Don Metzler, Republican challenger in county board District 27.

Mick Henkhaus, Democratic candidate for treasurer, and Don Sonnenberg, Democratic incumbent county board member in District 27, were unable to attend. William S. Strange, who is opposing Hamilos in District 26, was out of town and could not attend.

In spite of a generally friendly atmosphere, differences of opinion surfaced early.

Churchich and Shimkus shook their heads and responded to Ramsey's comment on "the seeming lower quality of people serving in public office today" with looks of consternation.

County board candidates Hamilos and Metzler took opposite stances about making cuts in county government. Hamilos called it a tough problem, because the government serves the people.

He mentioned the new bus station in Edwardsville and the proposed one for Collinsville, saying they would bring in money. He said programs not helpful to people will be cut.

Metzler criticized the Madison County Transit Authority, saying few people ride the buses.

"There is a better way to spend the money," he said. "Taxis and limos would be cheaper."

Metzler also expressed opposition to the new Health Department because of its cost.

"We have an $89,000 department, and the only thing they're doing that wasn't already being done is restaurant inspection," he said.

Hamilos and Metzler agreed that the Health Department's new administrator should have a medical background. Metzler emphasized the importance of administrative experience as well.

The audience asked questions of Sheriff Churchich and his challenger, Vahle. Churchich said he doubted seriously that Madison County would receive much money from the recently passed federal crime bill.

"Most of it will probably go to cities for beat cops, who are of almost no use in some areas (of the county)," he said.

"If we get any, we'll try to earmark it for juvenile programs."

Asked about his plans for the next four years, Churchich said he would expand the SWAT program, keep the DUI Task Force on the highways, finish computerizing the department, and carry out jail expansion.

Vahle agreed about building the jail, and said he wants to do it right.

"The superintendent and I would oversee it as much as possible," he said.

Vahle said he would look into waste in the department and maximize the number of deputies on the road.

As for training the volunteer force he recommends to augment the sheriff's department, Vahle explained, "I'd do a lot of in-house training and also draw in experts from out-state police schools."

"Many of them give free training," he said. "Most of it would be done without tax funds."

Both Vahle and Churchich agreed on the effectiveness of boot camps for young offenders.

Saltich said the National Voters Registration Act will give voters more access but may cause duplication of registration work.

Ramsey said the Act is a federal law affecting federal elections.

Here are some late October Gardening Tips from the experts at

NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

There are still a few gardening chores that can be taken care of, even at this late date. Notice how we said a few. For the most part, outdoor gardening activities for the year pass with Daylight Savings Time. But not all.

Let's get into some gardening tasks you can perform before the cold weather sets in.

If frost is expected and you haven't yet found the time to plant bulbs, cover the planting area with a thick layer of leaves or straw to keep the ground from freezing. Plant the bulbs as soon as you can.

Drain irrigation ditches and in-ground sprinkling system lines. Make sure you put away all garden hoses before the soil freezes.

To protect roses this winter, mulch their crowns with peat and cover the canes with styrofoam cones.

If the temperatures remain steadily above 40°, spray broadleaved and needle evergreens with an anti-desiccant such as Wilt-Pruf.

Mulch strawberries before the ground freezes.

Continue to rake up leaves that fall on the lawn. The best way to dispose of leaves is to mulch or compost them.

Stroll through the yard and examine all guy wires and stakes of fall-planted trees. During the winter, leaning trees aren't quite so obvious, especially ones leaning toward or away from the house. You don't want them to get blown over by high winds.

Wrap rope or twine around the branches of arborvitae and other weak-branched shrubs to prevent damage from snow accumulation.

To protect tree trunks from mouse and other rodent damage, keep mulch away from trunks and wrap them with burlap or tree wrap.

Till the garden plot to eliminate weeds and expose overwintering insects.

If you have any fertilizer left over, place the bag(s) on a raised platform of some sort. That way they'll stay dry and can be used next year. A concrete garage floor is not a good place to store fertilizer bags, since moisture can work its way up through the concrete.

Prune weak, dead, crossing or diseased branches. If you wait, Mother Nature may do this chore for you in the form of heavy snow and ice, but it won't be as neat and some limbs could suffer dearly from it.

Tighten the caps of pesticide bottles and cans before storing them for the winter. And, as always, make sure they're out of the reach of children.

While we're on the subject of children, today's a good day to make sure your house is trick-or-treater safe. For a light(s) in good working order? Sidewalk and/or driveway free of clutter? Steps in good condition? Tomorrow's a big day for the little ones, and we'd all like to make it a safe one, too.

Family concerned about turmoil in Macedonia

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

A Granite City family keeps close ties to their native land of Macedonia, and is concerned about the current political climate there.

Tomea Kirchoff came to Granite City many years ago as an immigrant from Macedonia, as did her late husband, John Kirchoff. Their daughter, Vicki Kirchoff Mayer, who now lives in St. Louis, has been interested in her Macedonian ancestry since early childhood.

The Kirchoff family has been a part of the Macedonian Patriotic Organization (MPO), established almost 75 years ago, and John and Tomea even helped start its local chapter. At its annual convention, held in early September, the MPO passed some resolutions, which "promote good things between the United States and Macedonia," according to Mayer.

All together, five resolutions were passed unanimously by a board of elected delegates from the United States, Canada, Australia, Belgium and Brazil of the MPO.

One of the resolutions voted to urge the U.S., the European

Union and world opinion to demand repeal of the trade embargo against the Republic of Macedonia instituted by the Republic of Greece.

Mayer explained that while Balkan Macedonia was recently declared independent, another section of Macedonia is under Greek authority. The Greeks have placed the embargo on its section, and vital products, like medicines, can't get into the section.

Another resolution asked that the United States be encouraged to station additional peacekeeping forces in Macedonia to maintain stability in the Balkans and to establish the framework for long-term peace in the region.

"Macedonia is thrilled to have Americans there as peacekeepers," Mayer said. They also advocate that the U.S. government complete an immediate exchange of ambassadors with Macedonia.

"The sole purpose of MPO is to help people in Macedonia share in some of the blessings we have here. Most that are involved with it here are hard-working, loyal Americans who want to see their relatives enjoy the freedoms we have in America," Mayer said.

"And still we work on for Macedonia. We work to install democratic institutions in a land that has known only oppression. We work to introduce American business to a land struggling to overcome financial havoc. And, we reach out a hand of friendship to our people everywhere to join in helping Macedonia to realize the freedoms we have," said a handbook from the convention.

Mayer said Macedonia has always hoped for total autonomy, but at this point, the country is happy to see at least one section free.

"We hope for a Switzerland of the Balkans. Macedonia is the powder keg of Europe. I believe that if there were peace in the Balkans, there would be peace in Europe. And, as part of the organization, we can speak for the people who can't speak for themselves."

To become involved with the Macedonian Patriotic Organization, or to make a donation, call Tomea Kirchoff.

Seeking stardom

Singer hires manager, begins recording album

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Vanessa Vargo, 24, of Granite City, wants to sing, model and travel for the next 30 years. She began her quest for stardom this summer.

Vargo started singing at her church at age two. She learned to play the guitar and recorded her first song, "Are You," in Branson, Mo., for $20, two years ago.

She began the summer of 1994 in Branson as well. While she was there, she sang two of her original songs on a mall stage. She also hired a manager.

After Vargo sang, she was approached by Tom Quick, who told her he wanted to be her manager, even though he had never been a manager. He works for USA Distributor.

So, Vargo traveled with Quick over the summer to a golf tournament in Hartford, Conn., a doctor's convention in El Paso City, Texas, and a home show in Long Beach, Calif. She modeled at each location.

When she returned to Granite City, she wasn't home long. She took off for Memphis, Tenn., during "Elvis Week." While she was there, she sang a couple of songs in a tent set up across the street from Graceland. She said she was the only one to sing her own songs because the other people there were Elvis impersonators.

In September, Vargo traveled to Nashville in an attempt to talk to some record companies. Instead, she wound up dancing on a television show.

"I just went walking around, asking all kinds of questions, and then I met some people who were going to dance on this show," she said.

The show, called "Hot, Hip and Country," has appeared in Nashville.

She also spoke to a record store manager, who said he would like to help her, but he needed to hear her music. At the time, he didn't have time to listen, but he has since written her a letter, and she plans to send a tape.

Since she's been back home, Vargo has been recording an album, which is yet to be named. She records her original songs at "For the Record" in Pontoon Beach.

Some of her song titles include "People Who Dream" and "You Steal My Heart Away." She has two more songs to record to complete a 10-song album.

Besides learning guitar, Vargo has also had voice lessons. She plays the guitar and tambourine to her own music, and her mother, Karen Tucker, plays the piano to one of her songs. Vargo said drums and other instruments are added at the recording studio.

Vargo also attended Barbizon Modeling School and has participated in quite a few pageants, including Miss Collinsville, Miss Fall Festival in Bethalto, Miss Madison County and Miss Illinois.

She said she participates in so many activities to heighten her dreams. "I want to be a singer like young Elvis, and an actor like Cary Grant," she said.

"I wish I could get a record label, so I could tour the U.S.

and overseas. I'm going to try to take an acting class soon, but I only want to be in family movies, no guns or violence," she said.

Vargo said her grandmother, Macie Alberta Cochran, is her biggest fan. Vargo's friends are another source of encouragement.

Said Tucker about her daughter: "She is determined to make it. She's had a lot of discouragement, but she is determined." Vargo, born in Granite City, graduated from Granite City High School in 1989. She went to Belleville Area College and later transferred to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She didn't finish at SIUE, but said she doesn't really like school anyway and doesn't plan to return any time soon. She currently works for a photo finishing company in St. Louis.

EPA began its topsoil removal in August. But Granite City has intervened in federal court, trying to block the residential cleanup until EPA makes public its plans for the pile. The city has argued — and a health study conducted by the Illinois Department of Public Health has confirmed — that the pile and lead paint and dust in homes represent more of a health risk than contaminated soil. City officials have asked that those problems be addressed first.

Alderman Craig Tarpoff asked EPA officials questions regarding the methods they used to come up with the proposed remedy. He said the use of computer modeling, which did not include site-specific data, to predict blood-lead levels in children, is a flawed method.

He asked Pat VanLeeuwen of the EPA about the use of the computer model and the values used with the model.

VanLeeuwen said that the values should be in the administrative report, which is in the Granite City Public Library. She explained that the values changed through the different stages of the lead study, but she also said that with the last set of samplings done, a database has been established, and the values should be more appropriate.

Tarpoff also asked if the lead studies were done on bare and grass-covered soils, and if studies were conducted for lead paint.

VanLeeuwen said the studies were only concerned with bare soils and the studies only looked at environmental burdens — so paint wasn't included.

Granite City Mayor Ron Selph asked the EPA how it could differentiate between lead in the soil and lead from paint in a house.

"You really can't when it's in the blood because it all becomes lead when it's in the blood," Van Leeuwen said.

"But we didn't model for paint," she said.

Chris Risinger, who lives on State Street where some of the cleanup has been started, asked if any of the yards were just part of a pilot program.

"Did the EPA ask permission to specifically clean the easements in the 1400 block of State and Grand and the odd side of Madison Avenue?" Risinger asked.

Brad Bradley, EPA project manager, said that the EPA didn't look at any of it as a pilot program because it hopes to complete all of the planned clean-up.

"Yes, we asked (for permission) and the city said no because they were worried that the easements would just be recontaminated when we remove the Taracorp pile," Bradley said.

Alderman Foster Frederick asked whether the EPA is periodically running groundwater checks for lead.

Bradley replied that until 1992, the EPA thought there was no groundwater pollution. However, in 1992 lead was found in groundwater near the Taracorp pile.

"Eventually, we will have to test more wells," he said.

While the flow of groundwater is south and southwest, EPA began the cleanup north of the pile — near Missouri Avenue — because that area had a high concentration of battery chips and to test the effectiveness of dust control, Bradley said.

When Bradley said that EPA plans to take the lead-filled soil to a landfill, Frederick asked about the possibility of groundwater contamination there.

Bradley said that the contaminated soil would not go back to the groundwater from the landfill because landfills are required to see that that does not happen.

"Can you guarantee that the yards won't be recontaminated?" Selph asked.

"Yes, we won't do it if they'll be recontaminated," Bradley said.

Tarpoff also worried about contamination from the pile due to the close proximity of BV&G Transport Co. and the possibility of trucks blowing the dust from the pile everywhere.

"Have you run into any opposition from the people with contaminated yards? Do the majority of the people want them cleaned up?" Risinger asked.

"Absolutely, the majority want their yards cleaned up. Many are also concerned about the pile," Bradley said.

Andria, of the 1700 block of Maple Street, said EPA should address the pile and lead in paint before removing residential soil.

"Clean the pile and the lot next to it. Take care of the paint, and then clean the yards," Andria said.

Written comments on the current proposed plan will be accepted until Nov. 14. They should be sent to Susan Pastor, P-19J, U.S. EPA Region 5, 77 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60604.

has it that Granite City Division will be affected least and that only about 90 skilled, nonunion workers—as opposed to 100 at Midwest Division and 300 at Great Lakes—will be cut.

"They can't do too much to us here. They already have me doing two jobs," one management employee said.

But more disturbing to employees than the speculation about numbers is the method by which the company plans to sever its relationship with workers.

The company's Employment Security Policy, applicable to non-union employees, expired on Dec. 31, 1993. Employees are now considered "at will."

It means either the employee or the company may terminate the employment relationship at any time and for any reason.

According to the memo, the company's past practices with regard to severed employees will not be followed.

"Prior present policies, practices and manuals of National Steel applicable to non-represented employees have not been and should not now or in the future be considered to be a contract or promise of National Steel," the memo states.

Included among the policies, practices and manuals not to be considered promises are employee personnel books, standard practice manuals, layoff, transfers, promotions, terminations, severance or separation pay, supplemental unemployment benefits (including insurance coverage) and income protection.

Those policies have either expired or their terms have been discontinued, the memo states. "National Steel's headquarters executive management may change, discontinue, terminate, practice or manual in its sole discretion and without notice," the memo states.

The company is developing a severance package for its workers. The package may include a severance payment and health coverage continuation, but "it will not include a 'pension window' or any other form of enhanced early retirement benefit," the memo states.

While the amount of severance pay and length of health coverage continuation have not yet been determined, "it will not be the same or patterned after any or separation packages," according to the memo.

The company plans to offer outplacement assistance to all employees affected by staff reductions.

The move is necessary because National has not reported a profitable year since 1990, and in the last three years, has reported net losses totaling $466.8 million. Even after adjustment for unusual items, losses for a three-year period amount to $238.1 million, according to the memo.

"We cannot allow these financial results to continue," Goodwin said.

While the market is currently experiencing strong demand and higher prices, National Steel is positioning itself for the inevitable downturn, Goodwin said.

coverage continuation, but "it will not include a 'pension window' or any other form of enhanced early retirement benefit," the memo states.

While the amount of severance pay and length of health coverage continuation have not yet been determined, "it will not be the same or patterned after any or separation packages," according to the memo.

The company plans to offer outplacement assistance to all employees affected by staff reductions.

The move is necessary because National has not reported a profitable year since 1990, and in the last three years, has reported net losses totaling $466.8 million. Even after adjustment for unusual items, losses for a three-year period amount to $238.1 million, according to the memo.

"We cannot allow these financial results to continue," Goodwin said.

While the market is currently experiencing strong demand and higher prices, National Steel is positioning itself for the inevitable downturn, Goodwin said.

National Steel is the fourth largest integrated steel producer in the United States with annual shipments of about 5 million tons of flat-rolled products.

Ex-drug dealer to preach 1st sermon

The Rev. Alexander Quincy Williams will preach his first sermon at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St. in Venice, today.

Williams says he is a former drug dealer who now gets high "with an overdose of the Holy Ghost."

"I used to be a drug dealer for the devil. I was a fool and nobody could tell me anything... wouldn't listen. I want to apologize to God first and the many people I hurt by dealing in drugs," Williams said.

"Jesus gave me another chance in life. He brought me out of this devil poison and death. Jesus brought me out of darkness and into the marvelous light. I am a young man with street experience. As an ambassador for Christ, it is my job to preach, talk and let my life shine for Jesus by being his witness. Drugs, money, alcohol and guns all lead to death at an early age.

"I have put away my .38s, .45, and .357 magnums. Now I carry a 66 — the Holy Bible to preach God's Word," Williams said.

"If God can change me, then He can change you," Williams said.

Services begin at 10:30 a.m. Williams will start preaching at about 12:10 p.m.

"I invite all my buddies to come and hear the word of God," he said.

Support groups have been in existence for many years. They can become a vital and positive influence in the lives of both patients and those who care about them. By providing information about their disease and how to live with it, support group members can create a better working partnership between patient and physician.

Memorial believes that support groups provide an opportunity for patients, along with their families and friends to discuss uncertainties and learn to place them in perspective. Better than any other technique, talking in a support group with people who share common problems, helps them understand that they are not alone.

The following is information about Memorial-sponsored support groups. For more information about these groups, call the Community Relations Department at 257-5649.

A "Trail of Treats" Halloween outing will be held for children from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday at the Baptist Recreational Grounds. All little ghosts and goblins will receive treats. Also available will be hot chocolate and Halloween refreshments. The recreational grounds are well lit and there will be supervision.

A musical jam session and fellowship is planned for 5 p.m. today, in the fellowship hall at Pontoon Baptist Church. A great time is being planned for anybody interested in participating by bringing a musical instrument and joining in the fun or just by listening to the entertainment. There will also be refreshments.

John and Cheryl Birdsong and Elizabeth Lloyd attended a soccer game Saturday in Kirksville, Mo., where their son, Skip Birdsong, played with the Rivermen. He attends the University of Missouri at St. Louis. The game was against the Bull Dogs of Northeast Missouri State University. The score was a 2-2 tie. During half time, there was an adult penalty kick contest and John Birdsong won a new soccer ball.

Police offer safety tips to protect property

With the season's change, it is important to remember other changes as well. Residents with time-limited landscaping and security lights should consider adjusting them as the clocks are turned back this month.

In addition, Thanksgiving is coming up, and if you are planning to be away for the holidays, the Granite City Police Department reminds you to take measures to insure the protection of your property:

Advise a trusted neighbor or relative of your departure;

Have your mail and newspapers picked up daily;

Set your interior lights and/or radio on timers; and

If you are going to be away for an extended period, tell the police so patrol officers can check by your home on occasion.

Trick-or-treating set in Madison

Mayor John Bellico has announced that Halloween trick-or-treating in Madison is to take place from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday only within residents' own neighborhoods.

Post office wants customers to call if service problems occur

When there is a conflict, both participants in a relationship must know a problem exists before it can be fixed. It's no different with the Postal Service and its customers.

If you have a problem with your mail service, contact the Granite City Post Office at 877-0700.

Also available are district Consumer Affairs Offices, offering customers an open line of communication and a good source of information.

In this area, Saint Louis District Consumer Affairs Manager Carol Rottler can be reached at (314) 436-4433, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

If a local postal manager is unavailable, you may wish to fill out a consumer service card, available in all post office lobbies and from your letter carrier. These cards are a quick way to offer a compliment to a postal employee, a suggestion for service improvement or to file a formal complaint.

Using a consumer service card also provides an extra benefit to fellow postal customers everywhere. Each numbered card is tracked by a computer system that enables postal analysts to respond to complaints and helps them identify specific problem areas that may be affecting customers nationwide.

For Seventy Years I've Been There For You! Now I Need Your Help!

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

For the past seventy years I have proudly served the Granite City School District. In those seventy years some of the finest students in the country have passed through my doors. I have provided you and your children with many fond memories of your high school years. Now as I enter the twilight years of my life I must call on all of you for help in preparing me for future generations.

At my age I find myself in need of a great deal of work. My roof leaks, my windows will not stay open without some support nor are they very energy efficient. My wiring has not aged very gracefully and needs to be updated to support modern technology. In addition I would like to see my insides renovated to make better use of existing classroom space as well as to provide easier access for handicapped students and visitors. I would also like to add some new classrooms so my students will not have to share space at Coolidge Jr. High School.

On November 8th you will be asked to support a bond issue that will provide funds to make these changes. With these badly needed changes I will be able to serve future generations of the Granite City School District with pride and dignity as I have those in the past.

Supporting this bond issue will allow the Granite City School District to make needed improvements WITHOUT INCREASING YOUR TAXES

When Belleville East ripped Granite City 35-0 to clinch an outright title in the Southwestern Conference — the Lancers' first since 1981 — the champions of coach Mike McGinnis confirmed a theory.

Unbeaten in the conference at 9-0 and 7-2 overall, East was by far the best defensive team in the SWC and one of the best in southern Illinois.

WHILE SCORING 246 points or 27.3 per game, the Lancers permitted just 81, or nine per game. The 81 was second to Mater Dei, the Mid-State Conference champion with totals of 246 and 75.

A glance at other conference champions confirmed defense being as offense in that O'Fallon not only led the South Seven Conference offensively at 289 points but allowed just 82.

In the Cahokia Conference, Freeburg won the title with a 5-1 record and was 7-2 overall with a league-best 282 points while also allowing a league-low 104 points.

Defense was especially noticeable for the independents, where East St. Louis Lincoln scored 236 points but allowed just 67.

If points allowed is a barometer of a team's strength, it is applicable to East St. Louis Senior High, which advanced to the state playoffs with a 7-2 overall record but allowed 155 points while scoring 241.

THAT 155 IS THE worst for any of the playoff teams from the southwestern Illinois area and represents a huge slide from the 59 points the Flyers permitted a year ago when they were 9-3 before losing in the state quarterfinals.

Losing to Belleville teams in consecutive seasons — West in '93 and East in '94 — also are indications of the Flyers' slide from supremacy, but the points permitted sticks out as much as having to rally in successive years to edge Lincoln.

With five representatives in the playoffs, the Cahokia Conference stands proud with respective 7-2 regular-season records for Freeburg, Carlyle, Columbia and Duplo and a 6-3 record for Waterloo.

My hope is that conference will remain as proud should Waterloo, which was 3-3 in league play, ever dominate the way O'Fallon did in the Mississippi Valley Conference before getting the boot.

WATERLOO is by far the enrollment leader in the Cahokia Conference, but too often that league has proved competitive on the field is much more important.

Reference to the Cahokia Conference made me think also of Norm Penoneau, a tight end and defensive end for Freeburg. Thanks to visits to Medrehab and its physical therapist, Penoneau overcame the stress related to an ankle injury.

"He was one of several players we had banged up all season," said Freeburg coach Dave Fahrner.

OVERTIME: When Althoff closed its regular season with a 35-7 loss to Springfield Sacred Heart-Griffin, the Crusaders' 2-7 record was the worst for coach Glenn Schott in 25 seasons.

This season, though, marked the first time in several years that I did not hear a coach or a fan refer to private schools and their ability to recruit.

The "oops" department leaped at me recently when I wrote of the 26th anniversary game of Belleville East and West and referred to the Maroons coach as Bruce Arnold instead of Bob Samples.

Samples was the West coach from 1968-89 and not only posted a 10-1 record in '89 but had a 83-7-2 record for four years. His winning percentage of 78.6 rates as the best in Maroons history and featured two SWC titles, a second place and a third place. Arnold became the Maroon coach in 1970.

Warriors, Kahoks reach finals

GCHS blanks Gibault in sectional semis

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

It was billed as a matchup between the area's top two scorers, but it was a team-wide effort by Granite City that led the way in Thursday's 4-0 victory over Gibault in the Collinsville Sectional semifinals at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

The Warriors got goals from four different players, including leading scorer Shawn Petroski, and held Gibault's Josh Toal scoreless to advance to Saturday's sectional championship game against Collinsville at SIUE. Granite City improved to 19-3, while Gibault ended its season at 16-5-3.

PETROSKI STRUCK QUICKLY at 15:44 with his 37th goal of the season to give the Warriors a 1-0 lead. It was the ninth goal in three postseason games for the senior striker, who ranks second in scoring in the St. Louis area behind Toal.

The Hawks' top scorer entered the game with 38 goals, but Toal never got a shot on goal and spent most of the second half battling leg cramps. The Warriors took a 3-0 lead into the second half and dominated play en route to their fifth straight shutout victory.

"They're a good team, we just executed well," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "Our defense played well and I thought it was a good team effort."

"We're real happy with it. The big thing is you have to come and play early."

The game was scoreless until Petroski took a pass from Matt Little inside the penalty area and beat Gibault goalkeeper Adam Friedrich with a low 12-yard shot. The goal came after John Nizian blasted a shot off Friedrich and Jon Reader (See WARRIORS, Page 3B)

Hawks get a kick out of atmosphere at SIUE

By Jim Bradley
Staff writer

One of the Gibault High soccer team's goals this year was to get to the sectional tournament and play at the new stadium at SIUE. Tuesday's 3-0 victory over O'Fallon enabled them to do just that, and it was an experience all the players will remember.

Game time was 5 p.m. Thursday, and both the Hawks and the Granite City Warriors showed up at the complex about the same time, 3:45. If it were not for the different uniforms, bystanders would not have been able to tell the two teams apart by their actions. Both teams seemed to be giving the game, and their opponents, all due respect.

THE HAWKS TOOK the field first, although coach Jim Corsi would not allow the players to take any balls with them. "I want you to just go out and walk around, get a feel for the field," Corsi told his players. "Don't take any balls with you, we can't have any balls on the field until 4:30."

That is just what the players did, and they talked to each other about the condition of the field and the upcoming game. "That's real grass out there," one Gibault player said. "I don't think we have played on all real grass all season long. This is a great field."

ANOTHER PLAYER wondered out loud which one of the Granite City players was Shawn Petroski, the Warriors' top scorer.

At 4:20, a mere 40 minutes before game time, Corsi was not tipping his hand as to his starting goalie. Sophomore Adam Friedrich and senior Chris Knox (See HAWKS, Page 3B)

Kahoks survive scare in win over MaroonsBy David Wilhelm
Staff writer

For Collinsville High's soccer team, the postseason has been all about survival.

The Kahoks (10-10-1), seeded third in the Collinsville Sectional, were pushed to the limit once again in Thursday's semifinal game against No. 10 Belleville West at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

BUT GOALS FROM Kyle Gaither and Donnie Smith plus a hustling defensive play by Eric Parrill — were enough to give the Kahoks a 2-1 victory over the stubborn Maroons and a berth in Saturday's scheduled sectional final against top-seeded Granite City, which blanked Gibault 4-0 in Thursday's other semifinal.

Collinsville reached the semifinal match with a similar 2-1 win over Belleville East in Tuesday's regional championship.

"We knew they were going to play us tough. There was no doubt," Smith said of the Maroons, who lost 5-1 to visiting Collinsville on Oct. 20. "You can't expect a 5-1 victory in a sectional semi game. You just can't do it."

"We came in with our heads on wrong. We didn't expect to blow them out, but we didn't do what we had to at the end. I (played as an) individual out there and Brandon (Stultz) did it a couple of times. That's just not how you win a game. We almost paid for it."

WITH THE KAHOKS leading 2-1 with 9:25 to play, West's Kyle Gaither scored the winning goal in the second half to tie the game at 1 — nearly knotted the score again.

After dribbling around a pair of Kahoks defenders, Maxim hit a shot that got by charging goalkeeper Mike Radosevich. But Parrill reacted to the ball and kicked it away just inches before it reached the goal line.

"We thought it was in. It had to be on a line or right before it," said Maroons coach Bill Houck. "The kid (Parrill) didn't stop. He hustled and got it out. That's a pat on his back. It was a heck of an effort. If we get that, it's a whole new ballgame. I think you're probably looking at PKs (penalty kicks) then."

Smith thought Maxim's shot would be a sure goal.

"I THOUGHT it was in. I thought they had a goal," he said. "Luckily, we have a great sweeper that was back there to save us."

Kahoks coach Ron Rowden also praised Parrill's effort.

"At least one person didn't give up," Rowden said. "I thought it was going in and I just thought at that point: 'Well, you know, we deserve — the way we're playing — not to get a win.'"

The Kahoks took a 1-0 lead on Kyle Gaither's unassisted goal at 16:52. Gaither's shot from 20 yards deflected off a Maroons defender and past goalkeeper (See KAHOKS, Page 4B)

Jersey tops GCHS for regional title
Lady Panthers outlast Lady Warriors in three setsBy Rob Raphael Correspondent

Neither team wanted its season to end, and for a while it looked like it never would.

But after three grueling games of volleyball, it did end for the Lady Warriors, as they lost 15-10, 11-15, 10-15 to the Jerseyville Lady Panthers in the Granite City Class AA regional finals Thursday at Memorial Gymnasium.

The Lady Panthers (18-13) move on to the Cahokia Sectional, which begins Tuesday. Jerseyville will play Highland, the winner of the Edwardsville Regional, in the semifinals at 8:30 p.m.

Belleville East, which upset Belleville West for the O'Fallon Regional title, will take on East St. Louis, the winner of the Collinsville Regional, in the other sectional semifinal at Cahokia at 8 p.m.

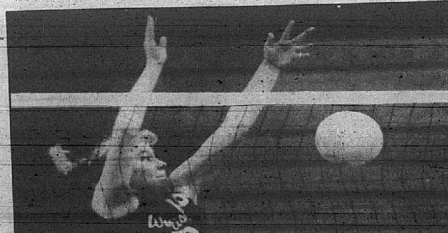

THE LADY WARRIORS finish their season 15-18-2, a nice accomplishment considering the team was 2-8 at one point in September — but that is little consolation for Granite City and coach Cindy Gagich.

"If you would have said in September we would play in the regional final, I would have been pretty happy with that," she said. "We had very little chemistry then, and poor teamwork."

"But we have come a long way since then, and once you're here you always want to play one more."

After playing its third match of the year against Granite City, Jerseyville's Foster said it was obvious there was little difference between the two teams.

"We beat Granite City in September here, and that was a close match," he said. "Then they beat (See REGIONAL, Page 4B) sent a shot over the crossbar. Less than four minutes later, at 19:04, Little scored off a corner kick with a shot that deflected past Friedrich into the net. The Warriors continued to pressure Gibault's end and made it 3-0 when Reader scored on a 25-yard shot with 5:04 left in the first half.

Reader's goal appeared to put the game away, although the Hawks did not allow another goal until Paulie Bucherich scored with 7:49 left in regulation. Gibault held Petroski in check after his early goal but could not counter heavy pressure from Granite City throughout the second half.

"They have so many weapons," Gibault coach Jim Corsi said. "We didn't mark (Petroski) up very well. He's a really good player, but they've got a lot of good players."

The Hawks, seeded fifth in the sectional tournament, spent much of the second half turning away scoring chances and containing the top-seeded Warriors.

"I didn't think we were ever intimidated at all," Corsi said. "We would have liked to win the game. I'm not satisfied just because we're here."

The Hawks, playing in the sectional semifinals for the second straight year, ended one of their best seasons in school history. The loss marked the final high school game for Toal and senior teammate Jerry Woldanski.

"(Toal) was a real joy to coach, both him and Jerry," Corsi said. "It's been a great year for us."

"They're well coached and they had a great year," Baker said. "Toal's a good athlete. They proved they could score against anybody. They didn't quit."

Woldanski had Gibault's best scoring chance of the day just 3:47 into the contest. Woldanski got behind Granite City's defense and fired a shot on goal, but Warrior goalkeeper Mike Bristol covered up the ball with a diving save to his right.

Bristol went on to record his ninth shutout of the season. Granite City's defense, led by sweeper Corey Kessler and full-back Travis Mills, turned in its ninth shutout in 10 games.

"I thought Bristol was a real stabilizing force," Baker said. "He made things easy for the kids. Corey Kessler's playing more like a field general every game."

The Warriors won for the fifth straight time and advanced to Saturday's sectional championship game, where they were scheduled to take on third-seeded Collinsville. The Hawks held off Belleville West 2-1 in the second semifinal game Thursday at SIUE.

The Warriors and the Hawks met just once this season, Sept. 27 at Collinsville, where Granite City prevailing 3-2 in overtime.

alternated all season. "I haven't decided yet," Corsi said sharply. "I don't want the starter to start thinking about it and get nervous."

Friedrich later asked the same question and was told he would find out one way or the other in a few minutes. As it turned out, he got the nod.

During pregame warmups, the two coaches, Corsi and Granite City's Gene Baker, sharply contrasted one another. Corsi walked among his players, shouting orders and words of encouragement. He even warmed up his starting goalie himself by running out to the field and making Friedreich dive from one side to the other for balls.

Meanwhile, Baker was statueque on the Granite City sideline. Finally, at game time, the two coaches changed. Corsi took his seat at the end of the bench and only occasionally stood, while Baker paced up and down the sideline.

Meanwhile in the stands, the Hawks fans were ready to go. "I think we can play with them," Greg Lane said before the game. "The thing is it is just an honor to be here and play a team like Granite City. I think this is a no-lose situation for us."

trying to advance out of sectional play and hoping to reach the Illinois state tournament for the first time since 1989.

"I liked the first one (against Collinsville), but this is a different time of year," Baker said. "I think we have a good team. I just tell them to be the best team we can be."

NOTES: The winner of Saturday's game will play Springfield or Chatham Glenwood at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night at SIUE. Springfield defeated Alton Marquette 1-0 in overtime Thursday night in one-sectional semifinal at Glenwood and the Red Skins defeated Springfield Sacred Heart Griffin 1-0 in double overtime in the other semifinal.

The winner of Tuesday's game will advance to next weekend's Illinois state tournament, which will be held at Fremd, High School in Palatine. The super-sectional winner will meet the Vill. Park Willowbrook Supersection winner at 2:30 p.m. in the second game of the day.

THE ILLINOIS HIGH SCHOOL Soccer Coaches Association named Petroski and Toal to the All-State and All-Midwest teams this week.

Three Warrior seniors, Bristol, Kessler and Little, made the all-sectional team.
